<td>Education in Juvenile Justice Settings</td>
<td>Research shows that students who are suspended and expelled are at a higher risk of entering the juvenile justice system. When youth are in the system, it is critical they receive a high quality education. This Webinar will highlight what is needed to ensure a high quality education and examples of facilities that are doing this well.</td>

Polling Question #3

- How would you characterize your current disciplinary climate?
  - Largely supportive, with an emphasis on re-teaching behavioral expectations and modifying student behavior
  - Largely punitive, with an emphasis on exclusionary discipline (e.g., removing problem students through suspension or expulsion)
  - Ranges from supportive to punitive, depending on the infraction
  - Ranges from supportive to punitive, depending on the specific school/district
Polling Question #4

- Is your school disciplinary climate influenced primarily by:
  - State laws and regulations
  - Local policies and regulations
  - A mix of both state laws and local policies and regulations
What is the Compendium of School Discipline Laws and Regulations?

“This Compendium is designed to help State and local policymakers as well as school-level personnel better understand the current legal and policy provisions surrounding school discipline practices in our country. It provides information on school discipline laws and administrative regulations for each of the 50 states, Washington, D.C., and Puerto Rico effective as of May 2013”
Compendium of School Discipline Laws and Regulations

How to Use This Compendium

The Compendium of State School Discipline Laws and Administrative Regulations is available as a searchable database and may be accessed at: http://safesupportivelearning.ed.gov/School-Discipline-Compendium.

Using the online tool, readers can access information in the Compendium in two formats: (1) school discipline laws and regulations compiled by category and specific subcategory across one or more States (Discipline Category Profile); and (2) school discipline laws and regulations compiled by State (State Discipline Profile).

- Discipline Category Profiles: The Discipline Category Profile option allows readers to select a particular category or subcategory of discipline policy and learn about the treatment of this school discipline topic across one or more jurisdictions. A full list of the identified categories and specific subcategories, along with definitions of the type of information each captures, follows this introductory section beginning on page 4 (List of Categories and Definitions of School Discipline Laws & Regulations). A sample Discipline Category Profile demonstrating the format and general content for one subcategory of policy, for selected states, follows this introductory section on page 8.

- State Discipline Profiles: The State Discipline Profile option provides readers the opportunity to select a single State or jurisdiction and learn about that jurisdiction’s school discipline policy coverage and content. For example, a reader could pull up a single State profile and find out which specific categories of school discipline policy are covered by law and regulation in that state or jurisdiction. This option then allows the reader to review all state laws and regulations related to school discipline as well as to access state-sponsored websites related to this issue. A sample State Discipline Profile demonstrating the format and general content of the profile follows this introductory section on page 12.

Groundbreaking Texas Study Pushed States to Scrutinize Approaches to School Discipline

Nearly 60% of all middle and high school students experienced suspension

And 15% of all students were disciplined 11 or more separate times

Breaking Schools’ Rules, 2011, Council of State Governments. Students were followed through grades seven through twelve.
Conditions for Learning

By creating welcoming, supportive, and secure learning environments, schools can reduce the likelihood that students will misbehave and improve educators’ ability to manage student behavior.
Conditions for Learning

Recommendations (Examples):

- Codes of conduct should emphasize expectations for students; make clear suspension is a last resort

- Graduated restorative responses should be in place

- Educators should be provided skills to improve classroom engagement

Reform in Action:

In 2009, the San Francisco Unified School District adopted policies to train staff on restorative practices.

San Francisco Unified School District Student Suspensions (SY2009-10 to SY2012-13)

-38% REDUCTION
Some students who are repeatedly involved in their schools’ discipline systems may require additional supports and interventions including those that address unmet behavioral health, academic, or other needs.
Targeted Behavioral Interventions

Recommendations (Examples):

• Districts, schools, and educators should collect data that identifies and supports students who need targeted behavioral interventions.

• Student support teams and community partnerships should be at every school to oversee behavioral challenges.

• Students removed from school for disciplinary reasons should be placed in quality alternative educational settings.

Reform in Action:

Austin Independent School District EWS used with student-support teams.

-29% REDUCTION
School-Police Partnerships

Working collaboratively, schools and local law enforcement can ensure schools are safe and that students are not arrested for minor misconduct.
School-Police Partnerships

Recommendations (Examples):

• School-based officers should be properly selected, trained, supervised, and evaluated; off-campus officers should be trained on alternatives to arrest

• Police should not engage in routine classroom management and should rely on the school’s disciplinary system to address minor offenses

• School systems and law enforcement agencies should create detailed memorandums of understanding

Reform in Action:

Denver Public Schools and Denver Police Department signed a memorandum of understanding in 2013
Courts and Juvenile Justice

Recognizing the negative long-term consequences of involvement in the juvenile justice system, every effort should be made to keep students in school and out of court, particularly through diversion of students who commit minor school-based offenses.
Courts and Juvenile Justice

Recommendations (Examples):

• School districts and local juvenile justice systems should share a common understanding of how many students schools refer each year to the juvenile justice system and for what offenses.

• Determine how, and under what circumstances, information regarding a student’s risk of re-offending and his/her education record should be shared to improve diversion opportunities.

• Youth in juvenile corrections should receive educational opportunities that meet the same standards of community schools.

Reform in Action:

The Clayton County, GA, Juvenile Justice Collaborative establishes clear protocols for referring discipline cases to court in 2003.

School-Related Offenses, Clayton County, GA (1995-2012)
Over a dozen big city school districts have recently overhauled their school codes of conduct.

At least 8 states in 2012/2013 passed legislation to improve school discipline.

As of October 2013, 13 states have statutes directing schools to improve school climate.

  - At the campus level
  - At the district level
  - At the state level
  - All of the above
  - None of the above
Polling Question #8

• In your jurisdiction/state, are you able to quantify the number of school-based referrals to the JJ system, disaggregated by gender, race/ethnicity, and students with disabilities?
  ▫ At the campus level
  ▫ At the district level
  ▫ At the state level
  ▫ All of the above
  ▫ None of the above
Examine Data

How many states publicly report some school discipline data on their SEA website?

- Yes: 9
- No: 32

Of the 41 states, how many states provide information on the number of students suspended annually on their SEA website?

- Yes: 19
- No: 22

Of the 22 states, how many states provide information on the number of students suspended and expelled annually, disaggregated by race on their SEA website?

- Yes: 5
- No: 17
Define and Measure Success

Do students feel safer in school?

Do students feel welcome in school?

Do students feel more supported and positioned to succeed?
